$9bn

Nigeria National Housing Program

The Nigeria National Housing Program aims to address the country's housing deficit by constructing millions of affordable homes across 36 states, with a $9 billion investment. The federal government plans to deliver 500,000 units by 2025, 1.5 million by 2030 and 4.1 million by 2043. State governments will contribute 5,000 units annually, totaling 900,000 by 2025 and 4.1 million by 2043. Private sector initiatives will add 800,000 units annually, reaching 18.4 million by 2043. This initiative seeks to improve living standards, create jobs and promote sustainable urban development.

$6bn

Eko Atlantic City

The Eko Atlantic City project, located along the Atlantic coast in Lagos, is a 10 million square meter mixed-use development. The project will include residential, commercial and business districts, creating a modern urban center. Comprising seven districts – Harbour Lights, Business District, Marina Downtown, Avenues, Eko Drive and Ocean Front – the development will serve as a hub for business, tourism and residential living. Eko Atlantic is designed to be a sustainable city that will enhance the region's infrastructure, boost economic activity and provide a vibrant living environment for residents and visitors alike.

$5.6bn

Renewed Hope Cities Housing Project

The Renewed Hope Cities Housing Project is a large-scale initiative to develop 550,000 affordable housing units across Nigeria, with a focus on cities like Lagos, Kano, Borno, Nasarawa, Port Harcourt and Enugu. In its first phase, the project will deliver 50,000 units, with 1,000 units per site in six key cities and 500 units per site in the remaining states. Designed as integrated communities, the cities will offer housing for all income groups, featuring one- to five-bedroom flats, terraces and duplexes. The project aims to provide modern, sustainable living solutions that foster community integration and economic growth across Nigeria.

Attended by key buyers from leading companies across the Nigerian construction value chain

Big 5 Construct Nigeria has been an exciting experience. I had the opportunity to speak with numerous stakeholders, manufacturers and suppliers of top-grade, high-quality products. I discovered solutions that will meet our future needs and look forward to attending again to explore even more of these offerings.
